PMC offers free informational session on Joint Pain

Titusville, FL (September 12, 2005) – Arthritis affects nearly 43 million Americans, according to the Centers for Disease Control. Osteoarthritis and rheumatoid arthritis, two of the most common forms, destroy the lubricating tissue found at the ends of all moving bones and lead to joint pain.

Parrish Medical Center invites any one suffering with joint pain to join them for a free informational session, Friday, October 21, from 8 am to 9 am.

Orthopedic Surgeon Joseph Rojas, M.D. will present the causes of joint pain, techniques for diagnosis and treatment options. The session will be held at Parrish Medical Center in conference room one, located on the first floor.

To reserve your seat call 268-6110. Complimentary continental breakfast will be served.
