CMS gives Parrish Home Health high marks

TITUSVILLE, FL — Parrish Medical Center is pleased to announce that Parrish Home Health recently received excellent rankings on ten quality measures from CMS (Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services). “Parrish Home Health’s CMS scores were superior to both the state and national CMS scores; a tribute to Parrish Home Health’s quality program,” said Addy Todd, Parrish Home Health Director.

Working to improve access to affordable, quality health care for all consumers, the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services regulates health care facilities and publishes health care data and statistics.

Parrish Home Health, a department within Parrish Medical Center, is a not-for-profit agency dedicated to the provision of nursing, social, and support services to the community. The agency operates under the leadership of Internist/Pulmonologist, Juan Perez, MD, medical director.

Home Health nurses, therapists, medical social workers, and home health aides visit patients in their home to monitor progress, administer prescribed treatments, instruct on disease management, medications, and nutrition. Home health personnel work with adult patients and skilled physicians as partners in the recovery process.

Parrish Home Health received a score of 100% in their last survey by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations, which demonstrates the agency’s high standards. Please call (321) 268-6275 to contact Parrish Home Health.
